COLQUITT'S DEMAND REFUSED

BULLETIN.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 14.—One man was burned to death and another was seriously wounded when a band of raiders, believed to be Mexicans, attacked a general store at Tecate, forty five miles from this city tonight and escaped.

Tecate is just over the border on the American side. A woman who saw the attack reported to the commander at Fort Rosecrans that troops were needed as the populace was terrorized.

BULLETIN.
NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., March 14.—Senator Alberto Pina and Manuel Bonillas, secretary of fomento in the cabinet of the late President Madero were arrested here late today charged with conspiracy against General Carranza, leader of the constitutionalists.

Rumors that arrests of other prominent men would follow were current tonight.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—General Carranza has consented to have American consuls to look after the interests of foreigners in parts of Mexico under control of the constitutionalists, where their own governments have no consular representatives.

Where there are such representatives, he suggests that even where their governments have recognized Huerta these consuls may unofficially communicate with him without involving their governments.

This is the substance of a telegraphic report made to Secretary Bryan today by American Consul Simplich at Nogales.

The declaration of General Carranza was transmitted promptly to the various powers today by the diplomatic representatives in Washington.

Department officials feel that General Carranza's declaration marks a change in his first uncompromising attitude and by the time he reaches Chihuahua he will be ready to concede to the United States the right to look after foreign interests in the country controlled by the constitutionalists.

Carranza's note is a plain bid for recognition by this government as well as by other governments, declared Senator Fall of New Mexico in a statement today.

In refusing to accept the representation of American consuls respecting the interests of foreigners whose interests the United States has asked its consuls to conserve, Carranza violates the comity of nations. It is a note peculiarly Mexican in its disregard for international usage.

Colquitt's Demands Refused.
Laredo, Texas, March 14.—Two demands from Governor Colquitt, submitted by Adjutant General Hutchings of the Texas national guard to General Alvarez, commander of the Mexican federal garrison at Nuevo Laredo for the return of horses alleged to have been stolen from Clemente Vergara and for the delivery of Apolonio Rodriguez, alleged slayer of Vergara, have been refused by the Mexican commander, according to reports here tonight.

In refusing to grant the demands General Alvarez said he could not consider them in an official capacity as the matter should be taken through property diplomatic channels.

Monclova Taken by Rebels.
Mexican City, March 14.—Monclova station on the International railroad between Ciudad Porfirio Diaz and Monterey, was taken today by the rebels who burned the railway shops and three hundred cars and sacked the town. From the state of Guerrero various rebel successes were reported today. The rebels continue threatening Tampico, but as yet have not attacked the city.

New Disease Raging.
Douglas, Ariz., March 14.—A strange disease, somewhat resembling cholera in the speedy death of its victims, is reported raging at Jeronchi Chihuahua, a district just freed from an epidemic of smallpox. The persons reporting the new disease among the humans told also of a new scourge among the cattle in the southern part of the Sahuaripa district near San Nichols.

Conditions Due to Mexicans.
San Antonio, Texas, March 14.—Smallpox conditions in south Texas due to the influx of thousands of Mexicans who have crossed the border to escape the revolution, it is declared, have assumed serious proportions.

TWENTY FIVE HAVE BEEN RECOVERED FROM M. A. C. BUILDING

Subordinate Officers of Fire Chief Swingley Report Forty-two Buildings in St. Louis as Unsafe, Including in List Theater Seating 2,400 Persons.

ST. LOUIS, March 14.—Twenty-five bodies had been recovered tonight from the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club building which burned here Monday morning. Of these twenty-one have been identified. Five bodies are believed to be in the ruins.

The body of A. T. Rannus of Chicago was identified late today. Of the twenty-one identified all are not positive.

Fifteen buildings in St. Louis were characterized as unsafe in reports made to Fire Chief Swingley today by his subordinate officers, bringing the total number of buildings so characterized in the last two days to forty-two.

Among the buildings whose fire protection or fire escape facilities are classed as inadequate are a downtown theater seating 2,400 persons. A fashionable family hotel, a moving picture house, a convent, a college for girls, two theological seminaries, an old folks home, a home for incorrigible boys and several moderate priced hotels.

The body of D. E. Fitzgerald of Springfield, Mo., sales agent for the Pierce Oil corporation, has been identified. This makes twenty-two identifications though all are not positive.

The twenty-sixth body was recovered late today.

APPEALS FOR PARTY HARMONY AMONG TENNESSEE DEMOCRATS

President Wilson Feels That His Attitude Has Been Misunderstood in Some Quarters.

Washington, March 14.—An appeal for party harmony among the Democrats of Tennessee was issued by President Wilson tonight after a conference with Senator Shields and Democratic National Committeeman Hull of Tennessee and Representative E. B. Egan, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee. Senator Lea of Tennessee was to have been present, but was out of the city. The president feels that his attitude toward party affairs in Tennessee has been misunderstood entirely in some quarters for reasons he does not understand.

Statement From White House.

The authorized statement issued from the white house says in part: "My judgment is very clear and decided that it is the duty of all Democrats in Tennessee to accommodate any differences they may have had in the past and stand solidly together for the sake of the prestige and success of the party throughout the nation. The nation is now accepting the services of the party as the highest benefit to it and every Democrat should consider it part of his duty and privilege to contribute to the hearty team work which has in recent months made the party so effective in the nation."

MAURY DIGGS PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ASSAULT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, already under conviction of white slavery in connection with a Sacramento-to-Reno elopement, pleaded not guilty today in the superior court to a charge of assault preferred against him by Ida Pearing, a girl who swears she is but 17 years old.

Walter Gilligan, Diggs' companion on the night of the alleged assault and accused by the Pearing girl of the same offense, also pleaded not guilty. Technical demurrers, interposed by counsel for both men, were overruled and both trials were set for April 20th.

Both men are prisoners in the county jail as neither has been able to furnish bonds since their arrest early in January.

PULLMAN PORTERS ON EASTERN TRAINS ARE VACCINATED

NEW YORK, March 14.—Two cases of smallpox discovered among the negro employees of the Pennsylvania railroad caused the city health department today to request the railroad to vaccinate all its men who may have been in contact with these patients. The Pennsylvania's medical department immediately took steps to carry out the request and gave orders especially for the vaccination of Pullman porters on trains east of Pittsburgh.

portions. A movement is on foot in San Antonio, it was announced today, sponsored by Dr. D. Berrey, Bexar county health officer, to request that the federal government instruct army surgeons along the border to vaccinate each person who crosses from Mexico.

To Attack Tereon Soon.
El Paso, March 14.—Coupled with the arrival here today of General Felipe Angeles, secretary of war in the Carranza cabinet, were persistent rumors that General Villa would leave Chihuahua next Monday night for the south and that the attack on Tereon might be expected to begin soon after.

TERRE HAUTE CAR EMPLOYEES STRIKE DEVELOPS INTO RIOT

Mob of More Than 2,000
Wrecks Many Street Cars
After Declaring Strike

POLICE ARE POWERLESS

Police Are Unable to Stop Mob
Which Wrecks Interior of Traction Terminal

STREET CAR SERVICE STOPPED

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 14.—A strike of the Union street car employees here tonight developed into a riot which the police were powerless to stop. Cries of "Strike" drew crowds to the street and from pulling conductors and motormen from street cars the mob turned to wrecking cars.

After breaking the windows out of a dozen cars which were stalled in the business section of the city because of cut trolley ropes, the crowd of more than 2,000 moved to the traction terminal station. The plate glass windows were wrecked by clubs and paving blocks torn from the streets. The leaders of the crowd then entered the building and wrecked the interior.

From the terminal the crowd headed for the general offices of the company which occupy the third floor of a business building opposite the section burned in last Monday's fire.

Street car service was abandoned at 10:30 o'clock and the company devoted its efforts to running as many cars as possible to the barns.

Have Control of Situation.

After all the day patrolmen were called out for emergency duty the police said at 12:30 o'clock (Sunday) they had the situation in hand. No arrests were made but the crowds quickly dispersed. The strike was ordered by T. N. Taylor, business agent of the local carmen's union who declared the action was decided upon because the company had refused to arbitrate the grievances of three men who had been discharged.

DRINKING MEN ARRAY THEM- SELVES WITH PROHIBITIONISTS

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., March 14.—With the slogan "give me five cent beer or give me prohibition," the drinking men of this village have arrayed themselves with the prohibitionists for the election next month. They are determined that the price of beer in International Falls shall be the same as is universally charged in other towns in this part of the country or there shall be no saloons. On the other hand the saloonkeepers are equally determined that there neither will be a reduction in the price of beer nor International Falls a "dry town." International Falls is the only town in Minnesota where more than five cents is charged for a glass of beer.

BOTH "WETS" AND "DRYS" ARE WORKING FOR WOMEN'S VOTE

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., March 14.—Both the "wets" and "drys" of Springfield are contending for the women's vote at the April 7th election when Springfield will vote upon the liquor question.

Both sides are urging the women to register next Tuesday and it is estimated that 5,000 women will be enrolled for the contest. Both sides are predicting victory. Springfield is the largest of approximately 300 cities and villages to vote on this question at the April election.

MEXICANS WHO SHOT ENGINEER CAPTURED

ARE IDENTIFIED BY TRAIN CREW AS
FISHER'S SLAYERS

Sheriff Beyer Rounds Up All Mexican Track Layers as Result of Murder at Manlius and is Holding Them as Suspects Awaiting Coroner's Inquest.

PRINCETON, Ills., March 14.—Thirteen Mexican track layers are, in jail tonight and another is dying. It is said, in a hospital as the result of a murder early yesterday at Manlius, Ills., of Arthur Fisher, engineer of a Chicago and Northwestern freight train by box car thieves. The Mexican in the hospital and one of those in jail were identified today by members of the train crew of which Fisher was a member. As two of the four men who attacked the freight train. These two men are the ones who entered the cab. It is said and shot the engineer because he refused to obey their command to pull the train out on the main track and proceed in spite of the fact that another train was due in an opposite direction. The two men were captured at Langley early yesterday after a fight in a bunk car. They had walked the six miles south from Manlius after shooting the engineer. Deputy Sheriff Bert Skoglund and Leslie Beyer, son of Sheriff John Beyer, followed the men in an automobile and entered the car. The two men who are said to have shot Fisher to death resisted arrest and fired at the deputies. One was shot in the face and the other in the side but they returned the fire effectively, fatally wounding one Mexican and knocking down the other. They brought the two prisoners to Princeton.

Sheriff Beyer arrested all the Mexican track workmen that he could find today and held them as suspects and the coroner started an inquest into the death of Fisher. Owing to the fact that witnesses were not ready, the inquest was continued until next week. Search will be continued for the other two men who tried to loot the freight train.

During the hunt for Mexicans yesterday and today all sorts of rumors spread about the killing of officers and Mexicans and it was not until tonight that a checking up showed that no one had been killed except the engineer and no one had been fatally injured except the one Mexican.

The two deputies are not severely hurt.

ARGENTINE DREADNOUGHT FULFILLS REQUIREMENTS

Warship Completes Trials Demanded by Construction Contract—Guns Carry Thirteen Miles.

Boston, March 14.—Firing what was said to be the greatest salvo of big guns ever discharged from a battleship, the Argentine Dreadnaught Rivadavia today completed the trials demanded by the construction contract. Every requirement was fulfilled, her builders announced. The salvo was delivered in one broadside, twelve 12-inch guns and six 6-inch guns were trained from the port side of the big sea fighter as she lay off Cape Cod.

During the discharges the men aboard had to carry rubber between their teeth and cotton in their ears to ease the jar of the mighty detonations.

It was estimated that the ship's 12-inch guns carried thirteen miles. The Rivadavia was at sea two days on these closing tests. Upon them depended the acceptance by the Argentine government of the battleship, for which it had already paid $10,000,000.

Another million is due upon acceptance. It is expected that the vessel will be ready for commission in about two months and will carry 1,300 men and will be the heaviest ordnance battleship afloat.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST MEN CHARGED WITH FRAUDS

CHICAGO, March 14.—O. S. Martin and Abner D. Mize, co-defendants with John F. Jelke and ten other men for alleged oleomargarine frauds, today were discharged by the federal court on motion by attorneys that there was no evidence against them. Arguments were begun today in the case of the other eleven men. Robert W. Childs, assistant district attorney for the government, argued that Jelke, a pioneer butterine manufacturer and his associates, were the central figures in a conspiracy to defraud the government on colored oleomargarine.

TEMRYUK DAM COLLAPSES

EKATINODAR, Russia, March 14.—Over one thousand persons perished today in the inundation of the towns of Stanitz and Achtyrskaja by a tidal wave from the Sea of Azov. The wave struck the towns during a violent hurricane which swept the province of Kuban.

Over one hundred and fifty persons also were drowned in floods in Yazenkaja.

A dam collapsed in the town of Temryuk situated on the Taman peninsula 98 miles northwest of this city, flooding the greater part of the city and drowning many persons.

The sea washed away three hundred and eighty buildings in Achtyrskaja.

Temryuk is a historic town with a population of 16,000. It once was the great Turkish fortress Adass.

The towns of Stanitz, Achtyrskaja and Yazenkaja do not appear on any available maps and probably are small places bordering on the sea of Azov.

The province of Kuban in which the stricken towns are located is in southern Russia and has coast lines on both the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov. The population of the province aggregates about 2,000,000 persons. The country is extremely fertile and extensively used in the culture of grain. Cattle breeding also is conducted.

Officers will be elected by the children and they will work under a regular banking plan. The funds will be kept in some bank.

SETTLEMENT OF IRISH-HOME RULE DIFFICULTY NO NEARER SOLUTION

London, March 14.—A settlement of the Irish Home Rule difficulty apparently has been little advanced by the British government's great concessions to the Ulsterites and taking the assertions of both political parties at their face value the deadlock today remains as immovable as before Premier Asquith's conciliatory offer was made in the house of commons on March 9th.

The signers of the Ulster covenant declare strongly that nothing less than the permanent exclusion of the protestant counties of Ulster from the Irish government at Dublin instead of the proposed six year option will be considered by them.

Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster Unionists sent a message to Belfast today saying:

"So far as our preparations are concerned the pronouncement of the government if anything necessitates a still more forward movement this year, we are going to make good in action all we have been saying and preparing for during the past two years."

On the other side the government newspapers assert that Premier Asquith's scheme is the absolute limit of concessions and is not a basis for further negotiations.

Irish nationalist newspapers declare that John Redmond the Irish Nationalist leader in the house of commons and his colleagues could not possibly support a bill containing further surrenders from the original scheme of home rule.

Little talk is now heard that the Orangemen's preparations to fight are a gigantic bluff. The conventioners claim to have 90,000 men drilling in Sir Edward Carson's army, with 60,000 rifles and some pieces of artillery.

The London newspapers are filled with pictures of Ulster men in civilian clothes and with rifle and cartridge belts, executing skirmish and other drills like trained soldiers.

HUNTSVILLE, Ark., March 14.—The body of a man found lying in a road ten miles south of here was identified as that of a Methodist minister. The minister presumably was shot from ambush last night while he was driving to his home. Rifle bullets struck him in the neck and shoulder.

DOROTHY ARNOLD IS FOUND IN LOS ANGELES

GIRL WHO DISAPPEARED TWO YEARS AGO IS DISCOVERED

Mysteriously Dropped From View
in New York in 1910—Relatives and Friends Have Searched Europe and America to Find Her.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—A young woman who has been living here for more than two years under the name of Ella Evans, declared today that she was really Dorothy Arnold, who disappeared from New York on Dec. 19th, 1910, according to a story which the Examiner will publish tomorrow.

The young woman who was quoted as having asserted she was the New York society girl who disappeared from the home of her father, Frances R. Arnold, maintained secrecy as to how she came to California but declared that immediately after she left her home she remained for a time in New York City and then went to Rochester.

She told of having been a patient at a hospital in this city for a time and of having paid a visit to a woman friend in San Diego. Later, she declared, she was kicked by a horse with the result that she was rendered an invalid.

For some time she has been occupying a cottage at 130 South Avenue Sixty, where she was found by newspaper reporters today. Two neighbors, a Miss Grosse, owner of the cottage rented by the young woman and a Mrs. Wilson, said she told them her father sent her money regularly but lately had made no reply to her letters.

When asked about this today, the girl sobbed.

"Ask my sister, Marguerite, she will know why father doesn't answer my letters. She'll know why I don't want to return to New York. Don't let them take me back. Its too cold there. I wish father would come here."

"Why did you disappear?" she was asked.

"Don't—Don't ask me," she cried, "but tell father I want him. Margie will know where to find him if he is not at home."

She spoke with familiarity of the Arnolds but displayed little interest when told that her mother was in Europe.

At times she seemed, however, to be suffering from amnesia but at all times declined to explain why. If she is really Dorothy Arnold, she kept silent about her whereabouts while relatives and friends searched Europe and America in vain attempts to find her.

M. Decker store burned. The greatest loss was in the storage house where thousands of dollars worth of broom corn, the household furniture of hundreds of families and various other properties were stored. The entire stock of the Commercial Star Print paper was burned. The loss was estimated at about $200,000.

TRAIN WRECK KILLS ONE; INJURES MORE THAN THIRTY OTHERS

Two Coaches of Train
Roll Down Embankment
at Mendota, Minn.

SEVERAL FATALITY HURT

Several of Injured Are Probably Fatally Hurt—Steel Coaches
Save Score of Lives

INJURED HURRIED TO ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 14.—An unidentified woman was killed and more than thirty other persons injured several probably fatally when two coaches of passenger train No. 4, on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, left the rails and rolled down an embankment at Mendota, Minn., tonight. The first part of the train remained on the tracks and proceeded to St. Paul with the dead and injured. The fact that the two coaches were steel probably saved a score of lives, railroad men said.

A relief corps was formed and the injured passengers lifted through the windows and doors of the coaches.

Many were badly cut about the head and body by broken glass. Every available ambulance met the train upon its arrival here and the injured were hurried to the different hospitals of the city.

Railroad men differ somewhat as to the cause of the wreck but the general opinion was that the rails crumbled after the engine and first few coaches had passed. An immediate investigation will be instituted according to railroad officials.

The train was traveling less than thirty miles an hour when the wreck occurred.

Among the injured were:

D. T. Maulier, Des Moines, legs broken.

Mrs. E. R. Schlei, Fenton, Iowa, back injured.

E. R. Schlei, Fenton, Iowa, seriously cut about head.

Charles Scott, Hastings, Iowa, condition serious.

Nels Christensen, Eagle Grove, Iowa, condition serious.

Mrs. Nels Christensen, may die.

List of Injured Large.

Many of the injured were met by friends or relatives when the train arrived here and taken to homes and private hospitals and no complete list of the number of injured was available.

Dr. J. F. Kenkins, Toledo, Ohio, who dressed the wounds of most of the injured passengers, estimated the list of injured would exceed sixty-five and that several deaths would result.

The woman who met death was crushed between two seats.

The body was identified as that of Miss Julia Highburg, 22 years old, of Minneapolis.

APPOINTED TRUSTEE.

Springfield, Ills., March 14.—A. Walker Talliaferro of Warren county, was today appointed trustee of the Western Normal School at Macomb by Governor Duane to succeed S. S. Hallam, Monmouth, resigned.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE

FORT BLISS, Texas, March 14.—General Hugh L. Scott tonight began an investigation of a report given him that Mexican prisoners were attempting to tunnel a way out of captivity. The work was slow because every tent in a canvass city of 5,000 persons had to be examined for the entrance to the tunnel.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 14.—

More than 400,000 acres of land in Deschutes and Paulina National forests in Crook, Lake and Klamath counties, Oregon, will be thrown open for settlement within sixty days through an order just signed by President Wilson withdrawing this land from the forest reservations according to information received here today.

DECATUR, Ill., March 15.—It is reported here that Beason, a little town half way between Lincoln and Clinton, Ill., is on fire. The fire started in the power house about midnight and spread to a lumber yard. The railroad station and many dwellings are in the path of the flames. Help has been offered from Lincoln and Havana.

The Spirit of Doing Things.

Comment was recently made upon the potent suggestions given by John J. Reeve in a statement to the Chamber of Commerce. In that inaugural Mr. Reeve outlined a number of possibilities for Jacksonville and which he deemed worthy of serious consideration.

The suggestions were indeed worth while but no one knows better than Mr. Reeve that these things are but possibilities unless there is sufficient interest on the part of citizens, a large enough public sentiment to bring them to pass. It has been truly said that a city or a community can have or bring to pass almost anything which is desirable if the people get really in earnest about it. Jacksonville can have street improvements, can have underground wiring and other betterments, which Mr. Reeve referred to, if the people with sincerity and earnestness demand them. To bring ends to pass, to make them living realities, the people must have not only large vision but also large activity and a willingness to work and to work in unison. In accomplishing the larger things if there be any differences of opinion on minor matters they should be forgotten while the "for Jacksonville" spirit becomes one which everywhere prevails.

The General Law and the Charter.

It is now an accepted fact that Jacksonville is to vote in April upon the adoption of the general school law for the schools here. Prior to the election there should be and doubtless will be a free discussion of the question so that the people generally may become familiar with the provisions, with the charter provisions and with those of the general law. The present charter was granted in 1867 and was amended in 1889 and the year following put an end to the securing of charters as the state adopted its constitution. There are now about thirty Illinois cities operating under special charters and schools in other cities are under the general law. The special charter in Jacksonville which was drawn by Murray McConnell has some points of advantage and doubtless some disadvantages by comparison with general law provisions. The people as a whole know little about school and during the coming discussion of the question of charter vs. general law there will come a desirable opportunity for gathering information on a very important theme.

The Merchants and Displays.

Wednesday of this week, March 18th the merchants of Jacksonville will have opening events and special spring displays. For weeks preparations have been going on in many local mercantile establishments for this day and the people of the city can confidently expect to see displays which will rival those in much larger cities. Styles in wear for both men and women this season on vary a good deal from former models and merchants have selected styles which are very correct. But in remembering about style the merchants have not forgotten the still more important matter of quality and the stocks this season are fully up to the high standard set in other years. In every line the showing Wednesday and on succeeding days will be comprehensive and those who want to look only and those who want to buy will be royally welcomed by the merchants of Jacksonville.

Land Still Worth Money.

Illinois land is certainly worth something. In Flint township, Pike county the other day 135 acres of orchard land belonging to Cadwell Bros. sold for $34,830 or at the rate of $255 per acre. The orchard was established seventeen years ago on land that was purchased at $40 an acre. The appraisal just prior to this sale was $13,500. The crop of apples produced on the tract last year was between 9,000 and 10,000 barrels. Seven thousand barrels of this crop is now in storage in Chicago. The Cadwells recently were offered $5 a barrel for 500 barrels of the apples now in storage.

In Greene county a fifty acre farm near White Hall has just been sold for $300 per acre. There is a general impression abroad that Central Illinois lands are too high in prices based on their returns and that prices during the past year have depreciated somewhat. Be that as it may lands still seem to be selling at good figures and it is well high certain that if a lower level of values prevails just now in some localities that the lands will "come back."

Teaching Children to Know Right From Wrong.

"Why isn't Edgar playing with you today?" the teacher asks as she watches her class at play. The answer comes readily with assurance. "He don't play fair. He says he's going to throw me. We'll try him tomorrow."

Edgar comes from a home where Christianity and its facts are topics of daily discussion. He has been taught the tenets of the faith, he has been told ethical stories, he goes regularly to church with his father and mother. If his mother were told that her son was a sneak, she would not believe it. If she were told that the child republic of his school play yard was teaching more about Christianity than she could, she would be still more incredulous. But such is the case.

Edgar is the embodiment of activity. He feels rather than reasons, he learns through the exercise of his senses not by listening to what grown ups tell him about life. To hear the story of the Good Samaritan helps him on his road to spirituality, but the fact that fifty children have by unanimous vote isolated him from their merry-making because he kicked a boy who was "down" yesterday, and appropriated one of his glass albeys, is a lesson in Samaritanism that goes to the boy's heart and makes him feel the things of the spirit.

Bringing about spiritual activity in children is a vastly more productive in developing the life of the spirit than talking about being good. It is more important to help the child to learn how to make certain sharp distinctions in the spirit of life for himself—his is right, that is wrong—than to try to pour into his soul our own adult conceptions of spirituality. FIND JOHN HENRY'S SHOT GUN.

As a tramp traveled along the C. & A. right of way between Murrayville and Woodson Saturday morning he noticed a shotgun hidden beneath a broken telegraph pole. He secured the gun which was later identified by Jesse Henry as that used by John Henry the night Charles Eard, Everett Crain and son were shot and killed. Sheriff Rogers was notified of the finding of the gun and that it would be turned over to him.

At the county jail John Henry sees few visitors, but Mrs. Henry spends a part of almost every day with him. The prisoner has little to say and is beginning to show the effect of confinement after a life of open air activity. His appetite however is good and he eats some of the things provided by the jail management and more of the special dishes which are brought by his relatives. Fresh eggs from the farm for breakfast form part of his daily bill of fare. It is understood that Dr. F. P. Norbury visits the prisoner once or twice each week and that if more physical examinations have been made.

Continuous program of vaudeville and picture opens at 7 o'clock at the Grand Monday night. Prices 5 and 10 cents.

MRS. VAN KEUREN IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

IS FOURTEENTH CHICAGO WOMAN TO BE FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Woman's Defense Was That She Mistook Husband Entering Room for a Burglar, When She Fired the Fatal Shot—Son Testifies in Defendant's Behalf.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Mrs. Louise Van Keuren, who has been on trial here for shooting and killing her husband, John B. Van Keuren last June, was found not guilty of murder by a jury today. Mrs. Van Keuren's defense was that she mistook him for a burglar.

Van Keuren was a hardware dealer on the south side. The prosecution introduced evidence that Mrs. Van Keuren had been receiving the attentions of George Penrose, a jeweler, whose place of business was near that of Van Keuren. Penrose was a co-defendant with Mrs. Van Keuren, but the judge took his case from the jury and ordered him discharged.

Earl Van Keuren, a 20 year old son of the defendant, testified in her behalf. Charles Erlstein and Clarence Darrow, counsel for Mrs. Van Keuren, bitterly attacked the evidence of private detectives employed by Van Keuren to watch his wife.

Mrs. Van Keuren is the fourteenth woman freed here in three years after trial on charges of killing men. Only one conviction, that of Mrs. Lindloff, an alleged wholesale poisoner, was obtained in that time.

Good vaudeville and splendid pictures will be shown at the Grand Opera House Monday night, prices 5 and 10 cents.

PURCHASES BUSINESS.

By the terms of a recently consummated deal, Mrs. Lydia Faugust turned over complete control of the O. Faugust Estate tin, slate and galvanized iron works on North Main street to her son, G. A. Faugust, who had heretofore been acting as manager of the establishment. The business was started as an independent concern by the late Oscar Faugust in 1903 and ever since has been in a prosperous condition. G. A. Faugust has kept up the standards set by his father and maintained the establishment in a thorough business like manner and is to be congratulated on assuming its full control.

CONVENTION WILL BRING LARGE NUMBER OF DELEGATES TO CITY

Entertainment for Visitors Will Commence on Afternoon of First Day of Convention.

Present plans for the state convention of the Travelers Protective association, which is to be held in this city May 1 and 2, provide for a program of entertainment that will commence on the afternoon of the first day and continue throughout the time that the delegates are in the city.

At other conventions it has been true that the programs were not started until the second day, leaving the visitors with a large amount of idle time, but after meeting and welcoming the delegates Friday morning a big reception and musical entertainment will be given at the Illinois Woman's college on that afternoon and at night a program will be given at the State School for the Blind, followed by a dance in the gymnasium. Jacksonville is better fitted for the entertainment of the visitors than is true in most places and the local members of the organization have arranged to show the visitors something unique in this line.

A street parade will be given Saturday morning and the business session will be held in the opera house after the pageant has ended. Arrangements have been made for the afternoon program and during the two days Jeffries band will furnish music. Free automobiles and street cars will be provided for the visitors. There will be no liquor at the local convention, and while it is true that years ago people had the idea that a meeting of traveling men could not be a success without an abundance of liquid refreshments, that day has passed.

Ample accommodations will be made for the 500 expected delegates and while Jacksonville has not as many hotels as some other cities, nevertheless there will be plenty of room for all. Special attention will be given to the accommodation of lady visitors and the members of the local post are determined to have everything arranged so that every delegate and lady visiting the city will go away a booster for Jacksonville.

MAKES CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM.

"Learn by doing" seems to be the motto of Principal Collins in the new program of opening exercises instituted last week at the high school. Two mornings a week from now on will be devoted to current events, most of which will be conducted by the students and two more to student musical performances. Students will take their turn reading the scripture lessons. The talks on the news of the day will be about five minutes in length and will be based upon accounts of daily happenings in "Current Events," a publication issued especially for the use of schools. On one day of the week, Friday, the program will be varied and outside speakers will occupy the platform, but the majority of the responsibility for opening the day in an interesting and instructive manner will rest with the high school students.

PROF. ALFRED E. DAY MAKING BRIEF JACKSONVILLE VISIT

Will Return in June to Beirut, Syria,
To Resume Work at Protestant College.

Prof. Alfred E. Day of Beirut, Syria, is in the city enjoying a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. William T. Wilson and family, expecting to leave for Kansas and Nebraska tomorrow for a short trip and arrive in Chicago Friday night for the Illinois college alumni banquet.

Prof. Day is an important member of the faculty of the great Protestant college in Beirut and will be in this country till June largely engaged in business for the institution with which he is associated. He says that Dr. Daniel Bliss, the grand old man who began the school 62 years ago with sixteen boys, is yet alive and over ninety years old and yet quite active and he has the pleasure of seeing his son the honored head of the college. When the writer was sought for a few years ago he had the pleasure of greeting Dr. Bliss and wife and found them charming people. The college now has a faculty of some fifty members, well nigh a thousand students and its influence is felt throughout the orient. While many students attending there do not become converts to the Christian faith, many do become so and all go away with the most useful knowledge and admirably fitted for the duties of life and as sought for in the important positions in public and private life. The eminent William E. Curtis paid the college a high compliment when he visited it some year ago and remarked that graduates were much in demand for all kinds of responsible positions. It has a large plant with a good number of buildings and has various departments after the manner of the best universities.

Mr. Day is one of the young people who have gone from Jacksonville equipped for the battle of life and have done themselves and the place great credit.

Ladies especially admonished to see the fine millinery display of L. C. & R. E. Henry, south side milliners, from Wednesday to Sunday of this week. Great attractions for careful buyers wanting lowest prices.

TOOK GLASS FROM HAND.

A piece of glass about a half an inch in length was removed from the hand of Oliver Ham yesterday by Dr. Edward Bowe, much to the surprise of Mr. Ham who was unaware that such an obstruction was there. About two months ago Mr. and Mrs. Ham had the misfortune to drive off a bridge while making a trip by night to their home north east of the city. The top of the buggy was crushed and the glass broken. Mr. Ham's hand was cut and bruised but it was not until the wound failed to heal properly that he suspected something was wrong and consulted a physician.

"ARIZONA" IS GREAT PLAY SCHEDULED FOR SCOTT'S

Notable Cast Will Be Seen Monday Night in Motion Picture Portrayal of Justly Famous Drama.

Drawing his cast entirely from actors of the "legitimate" stage and securing such stars as Cyril Scott, Gail Kane, Robert Broderick, etc., Mr. Thomas preceeded swimmingly in his casting until he tried to find an actor to play "Sam," the Chinaman in the service of "Canby," the Ranchman. To the mind of Mr. Thomas this role could be played only by a Chinaman, and both Mr. Thomas and his assistant, Lawrence McGill, spent hours in interviewing prospective candidates for the part, which could be well played by any Chinese familiar with house service. One by one, however, they balked at the job. The Chinaman of America has shed his cue, but he has not shed all his superstitions and the facing of a camera is one of his pet fears.

As a last resort, Mr. McGill went to the manager of the Chinese Theatre on Doyers street, in New York, and secured the service of Wong Ling, a member of the Chinese stock company. The services of Mr. Wong were secured only by taking over his contract with the Chinese Theatre in New York and paying a bonus, which was divided between Mr. Wong and his manager. As the taking of the pictures of "Arizona" consumed only a few weeks' time and as Mr. Wong must receive his weekly salary until January 1st, it has been decided by the All-Star Feature Corporation to sublet his service to any make of moving pictures or producer of plays who may need a very accomplished Chinese actor in his business.

In preparing this play "Arizona" for presentation as a photo-drama, Augustus Thomas not only made the scenario from this play but supervised the staging for the eye of the camera. Out of the four acts of the original play he made a photo-drama in six parts containing two hundred and ten scenes. The cast is headed by Cyril Scott, as "Denton," and embraces many well-known names, all actors personally picked by Mr. Thomas both for their reputation as actors and for their availability as "type" the result has been a photo-drama which has received unqualified praise everywhere.

You may dislike pictures plays or you may be a "Fan" by you have got to sit up and take notice of the photo-drama when such a consummate artist and master of stage craft as Augustus Thomas has associated himself with the All-Star Feature Corporation of New York which is going to produce as photo-plays many of the great popular successes of the past ten or fifteen years. As a first production there has been selected Mr. Thomas' own play "Arizona" which every man, woman, or child of theatre going age has been at one time or another. The production is six parts, containing two hundred and fifty actors.

As a photo-drama, "Arizona" is shown in six parts and two hundred and ten scenes, and employs the services of more than one hundred and fifty actors. Mr. Thomas, who made the production for the All-Star Feature Corporation of New York, secured a notable cast of players, the names including those of Cyril Scott, who plays "Denton"; Gail Kane, "Bonita"; William Conklin, "Colonel Bonham"; Lizzie McCallie, "Mrs. Canby"; Alma Bradley, "Lena"; H. D. Blakemore, "Dr. Fenlong"; Gertrude Shipman, "Estrella"; Wong Ling, a native Chinese actor, as "Sam"; and Robert Broderick, who created the part of "Canby," indelibly associated his name with the role.

There are very few dramas indeed which are better known to the theatre going public than "Arizona" and pre-eminently, the play lends itself to production as a photo-drama for here can be shown the out-of-door spirit which is so distinctive of the play. Essentially dramatic, even when quivered of speech, "Arizona" is a play which lends itself particularly well to the photo-drama. Produced under the personal direction of Augustus Thomas, in six parts, and containing two hundred and ten scenes.

A TRIPLE CELEBRATION.
Saturday at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Becker, 923 South Main street, there was a triple celebration attended with much pleasure for all present.

In the first place it was the 71st birthday of Mr. Becker who is yet hale and hearty and good for some time yet. Then it was the 21st wedding anniversary of Mr. Becker's daughter, Mrs. William Lahman of Litchberry and finally it was the occasion of celebrating the recent wedding of Mr. Becker's son, William.

Only relatives and a few immediate friends were present and all report a very delightful time. As a matter of course the winner was excellent and admirably served and all enjoyed the good things to the utmost. All the friends of the three families wish them many years yet of happy usefulness.

Monday

BY WALT MASON

On Monday after Sabbath rest, a man should go to work with vim, roll his sleeves, pull down his vest, and show there are no flies on him. If he's a happy fortune he deserves, he'll laugh to scorn "Blue Monday's" Woe, and he will say, "Now, watch my curves, and mark the swath that I shall mow." Get started right on Monday morn, no pause with grousches to condole; go, paint the fence or shell the corn, and work with music in your soul. Go forth among the busy men, and show them you can do your share, and when the Sabbath comes again, 'twill find you right side up with care. Ods bodikins! Beshrew the skates who start the week with idle hands! The Master of the Vineyard waits and for our labor makes demands. Tradition says that Monday's blue, but that to us should seem a joke, if we have useful work to do, and strength to bear our padded yoke. The man who has an honest task should never to a roar give vent, nor hide his face behind a mask of grouchiness and discontent. No mortal has a right to kick unless he has no work to do, or, having work, is too blamed sick his daily duties to pursue.

Edward Payson Weston, the great American apostle of walking, was born in Providence, R. I., March 15, 1839. In his youth he was weak and sickly and showed no promise of athletic ability. The journey of 453 miles he covered in 208 hours. In 1867 he walked from Portland, Me., to Chicago. Subsequently he engaged in many long walks and indoor matches in the United States and abroad. In 1899 at the age of 70 he walked from New York to San Francisco, a distance of 2,895 miles in 105 walking days. He made the return journey across the continent afoot in the record time of 77 walking days. Mr. Weston's latest feat of pedestrianism was a walk from New York to Minneapolis a year or so ago.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well.

Mrs. W. W. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The gripe had left me in a weak, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cod's livers combined with the blood making and strength giving properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result.

We guarantee that Vinol will do all that we claim and will pay back your money if Vinol does not satisfy you.—Lee P. Alcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE CIVIL WAR

The Midwinter March In Kentucky--Negro Stealing "Disgraces" the Tenth Illinois--The Stirring Campaign of New Madrid and Island No. 10.

(By J. M. Swales.)

After the battle of Belmont the hospitals at Cairo and Mound City, eight miles above, on the Ohio river, were filled to overflowing with the wounded in that engagement and the surgeons were kept busy amputating arms and legs and otherwise caring for those only slightly disabled by rebel iron and lead. Many who were able to travel were furnished home, there to remain until wholly recovered or discharged for total disability. The late Dr. A. H. Kellogg, many years a practitioner in this city, was in charge of the big hospital at Mound City, and did heroic work on that memorable occasion. He was the father of Captain J. H. Kellogg, who served in the 6th Michigan cavalry, who was a prisoner of war at Libby prison and other dens of horror in the south for a year or more. Captain Kellogg was a brother-in-law of Captain Thomas W. Smith, who commanded Co. B of the Tenth, until forced to resign on account of ill health, which finally resulted in his death a few years after the close of the war. He served as first lieutenant in Co. B during the three months call, and at the reorganization for three years was unanimously elected captain, and was a very popular and competent officer.

Looking back through the dim vista of the years since those stirring days a feeling of utter sadness steals over us as we think of the husky boys who marched forth in the prime of a vigorous manhood and faced the foe on battle fields that reached from Cairo to the sea, and we wonder where they are today. The boys of those two companies with the good march, who fought through Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, both the Carolinas and on to Washington. In all these states they left some of their gallant dead, thus giving a full measure of devotion to the cause of their God, their country and the flag, their valor saved for all time with its many stars added to the azure field since the close of the crimson drama. They took part in the greatest campaigns and battles of the earliest dawn of civilization and with others of their comrades helped to remove the barriers that permitted the Father of Waters to run unvexed to the sea. They were at the siege of Corinth, the siege of Nashville, where for months they fought starvation and Wheeler's and John Morgan's cavalry for days and weeks and held the capital city of Tennessee till relieved by Rosecrans' army of the Cumberland, who came by forced marches from Louisville, Ky. They were penned up in Chattanooga from September 20 to November 24, 1863, under the command of Gen. Geo. H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," whom Grant telegraphed to "hold Chattanooga at all hazards." Thomas replied: "We will hold it till we starve." And they did. At that awful, perilous epoch of the rebellion mules and horses were dying by the thousands and men were living on raw corn, in many instances picking it up out of the mire where it had been tramped into the earth. The eleventh and twelfth corps came from the Army of the Potomac and old Tecumseh Sherman from Vicksburg with the fifteenth corps. They saw the mighty host of blue and glittering steel hurl itself against the rugged sides of Lookout Mountain and planted old glory above the clouds. Yes, they saw still more, and experienced more hardships following the splendid victory of Chattanooga, Mission Ridge and Lookout Mountain Nov. 23-24, when they marched to the relief of Burnside's beleaguered garrison at Knoxville, 130 miles distant. With a most empty haversack they started on the long and perilous march through rain and mud and sleet and snow, with hunger gnawing at their vitals, and with bruised and bleeding feet as they struggled on and ever onward until they accomplished their purpose, the same being the raising of the siege and driving the rebel hosts from the "Switzerland of America," loyal old east Tennessee who gave to the union army 30,000 of her brave sons to fight against the accursed being of treason and human slavery, the foundation on which rested the hope of the slave holders' rebellion and the perpetuation of the southern confederacy. And yet the end was far off. After our return from Knoxville there was a call--another call, just as if we had not seen enough of the horrors of the seemingly endless conflict which had already filled the north and south with widows and orphans of those whose lives had gone out in the fire and smoke of battle. Many of us had about served out our terms, but there was a feeling that having been in at the start, a vast majority felt as if they wanted to be in at the finish and help to shoot to death the hydra headed monster of treason and they re-enlisted for the war. Many great battles were yet to be fought and rivers of blood was to be shed ere the great conflict closed. The Atlanta campaign and the march to the sea were not dreamed of at this time. The Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor, Malvern Hill and other destructive, wasting battles and campaigns were still to be fought to a finish and other thousands and tens of thousands of widows and orphans were to be added to the long list of victims of earlier conflicts. What do you think caused these fellows to still take on a further dose of the heat and burden of war? It surely was not a money consideration, for the pay of the private soldier was $16 a month, $4 per week, and that at a time when a gold dollar was worth $2.85 in the currency of the realm (greenbacks), while the life of the nation was hanging in the balance. These boys were not inspired by the offer such a "princely sums." It was something high above and beyond filthy lucre. The inspiration was a patriotism that was patriotic and a heroism that was heroic above and beyond anything the world has yet known or dreamed of. As war is hell, they went through it, and died in it, and stood as a wall of fire and steel between our loved homes and war's desolation, while crimson waves lashed the nation and came so near wrecking the grand old ship of state, whose pilot was the immortal Lincoln, and who, with the stroke of a pen, struck the shackles from 400,000 of God's creatures and made them free and equal before the law.

Of the 398 officers and men (or boys, for most of them were under 20) of Company A and B of the old Tenth, and served varying lengths of time from muster in to muster out, how many are with us today. Echo answers how many? Let us call the roll, Captain William A. Kirby, who served in Co. B in the first call in 1861, and who afterwards served more than four years in two Missouri regiments, James F. Self and Mike O'Brien, are, so far as I know, the only living members of Co. B. Of Company A, there are John F. Smith, a local contractor; Joseph Baptist and J. M. Swales of this city; E. C. Jolly of Franklin, who served four years, and George W. Snyder, of Alexander, who enlisted in April, '61 and stayed until the little affair at Appomattox. Wesley Platt, William Rice and A. J. Taylor served in Co. G, in the three months call. Platt and Taylor later served in Battery K, Second Illinois Artillery, known as Rogers' battery.

Of the commissioned officers of Co. A, nearly all of them have long ago crossed to the other shore. Capt. M. F. Wood, was promoted to Lieut. Colonel, resigned early in January 1865, to become colonel of the 154th Illinois Infantry, a one year regiment and died in Nashville, Tenn., in August, 1865. His remains were brought here and now rest in the Jacksonville cemetery. I was one of the pall bearers and the only survivor. Capt. James T. Longley moved to New York state and died many years ago. Capt. Charles Carpenter died in the Milwaukee soldiers' home, a quarter of a century ago. Capt. Henry McGrath the fourth and last captain died in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1879. He was one of the bravest men I ever saw on the field of battle and his coolness in action was an inspiration to others to face death without fear. He commanded Co. A, at Kenesaw Mountain, Ga., on that awful 27th of June, 1864, when Sherman's army charged the rebels on the crest of the mountain and met with such a bloody disastrous repulse, losing more than three thousand men in less than 30 minutes. Like Grant at Old Harbor, Sherman always regretted giving the order to assault a position which seemed absolutely invulnerable and could only result in a bloody, inevitable disaster without accomplishing anything of value to the campaign. More about Kenesaw Mountain later.

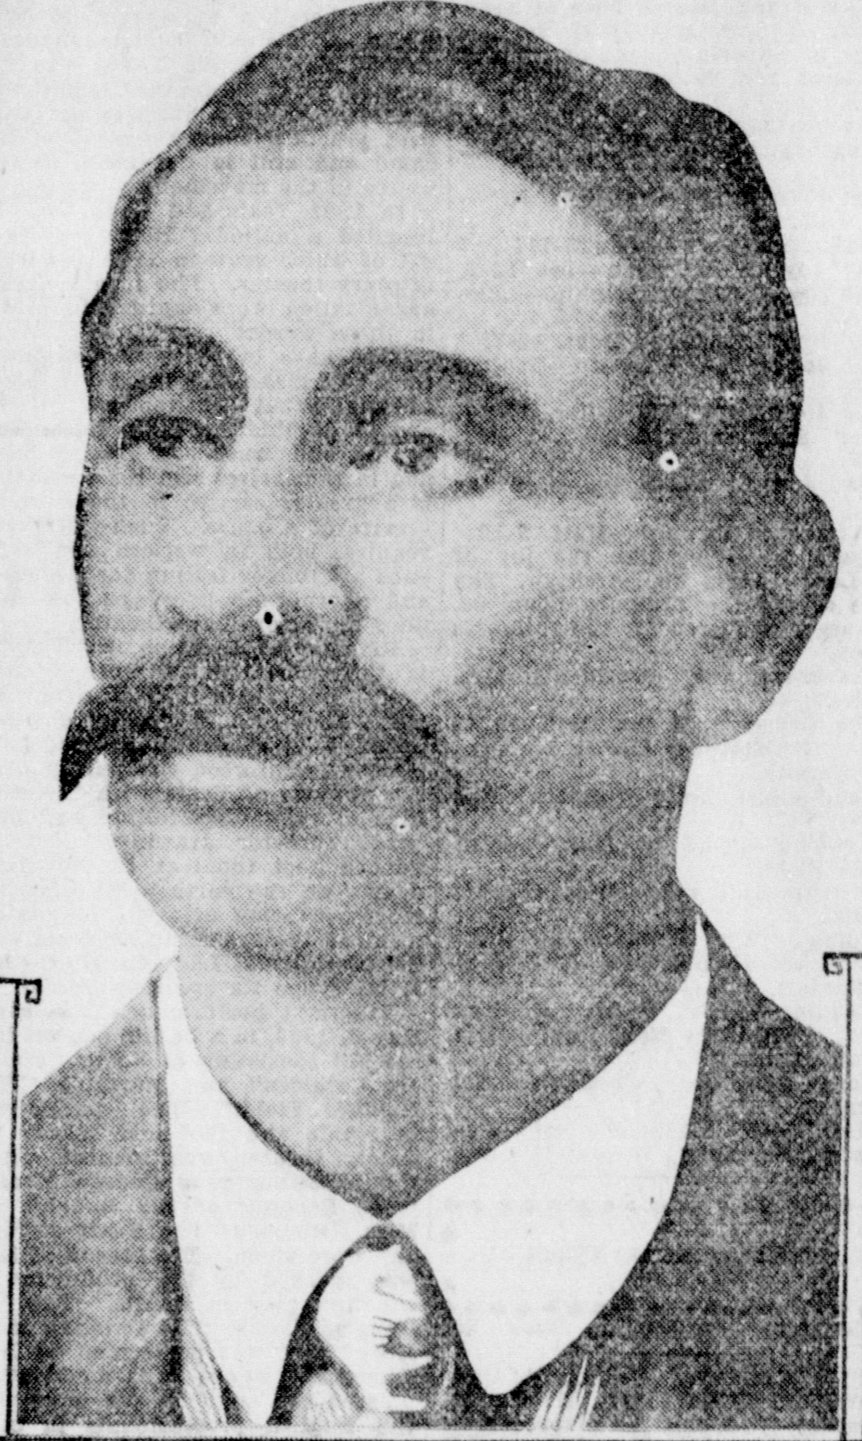

Early in January, 1862, all the available troops in and around Cairo were mobilized and organized into brigades and divisions preparatory to a movement against Columbus, Ky. We common soldiers did not know then, nor even to this day, the object of the demonstration, unless it was to give notice to Governor McGoffin, who then occupied the gubernatorial chair of the Blue Grass commonwealth, that the Yankee Army intended to defy his pronouncements of neutrality and made the sacred soil of Kentucky. Oh, but it was a magnificent fine bunch of American youths who participated in that expedition, headed by Grant into such able subordinate commanders as McClelland, Logan, Oglesby, Prentiss, Cook, Paine and others. Fully equipped with flying banners and glittering steel, the splendid army of invasion stepped to the music of the Union as they started for the rebel stronghold down the river. Miles and miles we treaded along the different roads that didn't seem to lead anywhere. It rained, snowed, and rain turned to sleet and the sacred soil of that part of old Kentucky was a fright, considered from a meteorological point of view. The Tenth was in McClelland's division and was in advance during most of the time occupied in the arduous duty put in on that particular epoch of the history of the army of the west. It may be of local interest to mention here that Gen. John A. McClelland was a very able lawyer and a politician of much prominence in the Democratic party, having served in congress, and held other important positions in anti-bellum days. He was what was known a war Democrat and a close adherent of Senator Stephen A. Douglas, whose career ended when the man with the scythe came along and cut him down in June '61, while at the very zenith of his power and popularity as a leader in the Democratic party of that day and generations of political giants, whose names and fame lend lustre to the pages of American history, more especially that past covering period of the war of the rebellion. What I started in to say in reference to the interest, locally of Gen. McClelland, was that he was a son-in-law of the late Col. James Dunlap, who built, and for many years owned the famous hostelry of that name, on West State street, and no twhe property of Capt. Alex Smith. After the death of his first wife, Minerva, Gen. McClelland married her sister, thus, if the term may seem proper, he was a double son-in-law. It was largely due to the influence of such war Democrats as John A. McClelland and John A. Logan that Southern Illinois was saved to the Union when the south attempted to secede from the sisterhood of states. As a result of their many, heroic stand many gallant regiments from the southern half of the state rallied around their standard and fought for the old flag. Both of these men became famous as leaders in many great campaigns. McClelland commanded the Thirteenth Army corps during the siege of Vicksburg but a time came when he thought he was a "bigger man than old man Grant," the difference of opinion resulting in McClelland's retirement from active service.

After several days of strenuous campaigning in and around and through the swamps and cane brakes hunting trouble with in grey, we returned to Cairo, Mound City and Birds Point and took a rest. Weather conditions were a fierce proposition, the hospitals were full of sick and wounded--none of the wounds were victims of the Columbus expedition, for we didn't see a dodgasted rebel while we were on the hunt for them, and if the truth be told the fellows who wanted gore were glad that the Johnnies were conspicuous by their being absent from the immediate vicinity in which he marched. Most of the sickness was caused by the contaminated water, lack of sanitary conditions, Measles caused many deaths, and camp dysentery was common. There was a great deal of homesickness, also, and a yearning for home cooking, including the good old biscuits "like mother used to bake." Lots of the homesick boys wanted to see "the girl I left behind me" and they wanted to see the good old mother and sisters and the brothers, the latter of whom were too young to go, but might go later, of which many thousands did before the crimson waves washed the foul stain of treason from the flag. Many of the boys who fought in the ranks died from that malady known as homesickness. Like seasickness, and must be experienced to know what it really means. I have been afflicted with both but many time, but always recovered.

The next excitement around the seat of war which was still at Cairo was the fitting up of the expeditions for the capture of Fort Henry on the Tennessee river and Fort Donelson on the Cumberland and there was immense and intense activity on the part of Grant in command of the land forces, and the fleet of gunboats under command of Commodore Foote. For some reason the Tenth was deprived of the honor of participating in the glory of that campaign which resulted disastrously to the cause of the slaveholders' dynasty and which added new and ever increasing fame to the man from Galena. It is said Col. Morgan of our regiment had some hot words with General McClelland about the theft of a piece of property over in Kentucky, the same being an American citizen of African lineage which one of the companies had appropriated and was using him as superintendent of its culinary department. Instead of it being a case of a "nigger in a wood pile" it was a nigger wrapped up in a tent with the intent of smuggling him across the river, which was a fact, for a swashbuckling slave owner came across the Ohio to claim his "property." This was a naughty thing to do but it was only anticipating Lincoln's proclamation of freedom. McClelland was intensely pro-slavery and believed it was a violation of the constitution as it then existed, but before the close of the way these boys helped to write one in lines of glittering steel which has withstood the political storms of a half century. Be all this as it may, Morgan's regiment was cut out of McClelland's division and was left behind in "disgrace," all on account of beating the great Emancipator a few laps in the race to free the negro. The two days fighting at

The American Citizen Who Was Tortured and Shot In Mexico.

Here is Clemente Vergara, the American citizen who was murdered by Villa's Mexican soldiers and whose body was recovered from Mexican soil by Texas rangers. His body shows that he was beaten, burned and shot.

Fort Donelson resulted in a glorious victory for the union arms and the heroic navy under Commodore Foote and the brave jackies under him. An army never fought under more unfavorable weather conditions than those which prevailed around Donelson, February 15-16, 1862. There was rain and sleet and snow and a biting blighting north wind, and at night, to make conditions worse he troops were not allowed fires which would have drawn the fire from the big fort and shore batteries of the enemy. Col. A. J. Babcock, in command of the 7th Illinois Infantry in that sanguinary contest, told the writer a few years ago that it was the proudest day of his life when he rode into "Fort Donelson at the head of the 7th Illinois Infantry, for it is history that that grand old regiment was a mighty factor in capturing that stronghold with its thousands of prisoners and munitions of war. Say, right then and there most of us thought it was all off, and that by spring we would all be home again resting in peace beneath the aegis of Old Glory, with the well earned plaudits of a grateful people whose homes we had saved from the red besom of a wasting, murderous war. But spring came, and still another and another and yet another before the ship of state was permitted to sail into the harbor of security and safety. The war had scarcely begun. A thousand battles were yet to be fought to an awful, bloody finish. The mighty battle of Shiloh, the wasting siege of Vicksburg and the holocaust of Chickamauga were in the future, and the mightiest conflicts that ever shook the earth in the Old Dominion were yet to come. Tens of thousands of loyal lives were to go down in the red vortex before we should be permitted to resume the arts of peace and a re-established union cemented by the best blood of the nation and a flag, cleansed from the foul stain of human oppression by striking the bolt from treason's hand. Brave foes in front in the open and the trail of the slimy copperhead in the rear. Disease, death, in all its ghastly forms in hospitals, on the field of battle and oh, you hell of all horrors, Andersonville, where 15,000 loyal boys lingered, languished, tortured, rotted, perished inch by inch, were yet to come; rather than this government of the people, for the people, and by the people should perish from the earth." The people of this day and generation can have little or no conception of what it cost to bring the flag back untarnished from a thousand sanguinary fields, and to contend with a foe whose far-flung battle line reaches from the Potomac to the Rio Grande.

While at Bird's Point during the latter part of February and early in March, 1862, preparations were completed for a move down the Mississippi to clean up the enemy in strong force at New Madrid (Mo.), and Island No. 10, which is about nine miles above the town. The troops comprising the force were under command of Major General John Pope and were from 20,000 to 25,000 strong, many of whom had not yet smelt burnt powder, of which our regiment was one. The weather was villainous, similar to that which we experience in this climate at this time of the year. At that time we were demi-brigade, as follows: Tenth Illinois, Sixteenth Illinois, Sixty-fourth Illinois (Yates Sharpshooters), and Houghtaling's battery, Battery C of the First Illinois Light artillery, with Gen. Morgan in command of the brigade and Gen. E.

The Return of Blood Eruptions

No Reason Why Anyone Should Suffer Such Disheartening Experience.

No case of poisoned blood is ever cured until the last destructive germ has been eliminated from the system. And the only remedy that is assimilated in the tissues and stimulates cellular activity to overcome harmful germs is the famous blood purifier, S. S. S.

The skin is but a fine network of tiny blood vessels, and the specific action of S. S. S. is declared by eminent authorities to be a pronounced stimulation of the activity of these cells.

The reason for this is in the peculiar action of S. S. S. which enables the cells in the skin to select from the blood the nutrient it requires for regeneration.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kidney troubles, S. S. S. so directs the blood that the poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

This fact has been demonstrated year in and year out in a wonderful number of cases of severe skin eruption that had seemed to be incurable.

You can obtain S. S. S. at any well stocked drug store, if you insist upon it, but be sure you are not talked into something "just as good."

S. S. S. is prepared by the Swift Specific Co., 215 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Write for their illustrated book on skin diseases.

IT'S TIME TO HAVE that long promised Portrait taken. No need to wait for a fine day, however. With the equipment of the modern studio you can be taken one time as well as another.

A. Paine in command of the division. Soon after arriving in the vicinity of New Madrid, and on the night of the 12th of March, the Tenth and Sixteenth made a still march in the rear of the town within a half mile of the rebel forts, and gunboats on the river, halted, stacked arms and threw up a line of breastworks with four powerful siege guns in the center. All that night we lay on our arms just behind our works, ready for anything that might happen that night or on the morning at early dawn. Just about the time we felt like a little sleep would be to our liking, but as day was breaking it seemed like all hell had broken loose at once. The enemy turned every available gun in our direction and the shriek and roar of shot and shell from more than a hundred pieces of artillery from the forts and gunboats made many of us wish we were at home with our mamas, or anywhere else rather than in the rear of that little old Missouri town, 50 miles below Cairo. Our light artillery and siege guns responded and the artillery duel was on in a most alarming and terrifying manner, especially to new beginners learning the art of war. At Island No. 10 the union gunboats and mortar fleet were battering away at the fortified island. Great shells went screaming and bursting in the air like mighty meteors dashed athwart the heavens, painting hell on the sky. While the fierce bombardment was on an enormous shell struck one of the big guns square in the muzzle, resulting in the killing of sixteen men and wounding several others of the gunners. That was my first glimpse of the actual horrors of war, in all its hideousness and hellishness, of the strife that was so fast and furiously depopulating the nation and manufacturing widows and orphans in the north and in the south, and filling the land with maimed soldiers who had opposed flesh and blood with lead and iron. But all this only served to brace us up and inspire us with a desire to go ahead and finish the mighty task which was only then in its incipency.

JACK KOETTERS MUST STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Is Accused of Killing Mrs. Kraft in Saratoga Hotel in Chicago—Captured After Country Wide Search.

(Chicago, March 14.—John P. "Handsome Jack" Koettters, who was captured in San Francisco recently after a country wide search extending over more than a year, will be arraigned in court here Monday to stand trial for the alleged murder of Mrs. Emma Kraft, a well-to-do widow whose home was in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Kraft was murdered on November 14, 1912. The crime was committed in her bedroom in the Saratoga hotel, where she was a guest. The weapon used by the murderer was an ordinary hammer, with which the victim's skull had been crushed. The hammer was found wrapped in a man's shirt on the floor near the dead body.

In their efforts to unravel the mystery of the murder the police were baffled for some time by a failure to identify the victim. Not until nearly a week after the tragedy was it established that the woman's name was Mrs. Emma Kraft and that she had come to Chicago from Cincinnati. Inquiry in the last-named city brought to light the fact that she had come to Chicago in response to a letter written her by Koettters.

Further investigation tended to show that the woman had long been infatuated with Koettters, who was many years her junior. From what could be learned Koettters was addicted to gambling and fast living and was usually looking for "easy money." He was supposed to be a telegrapher but was seldom known to work at that or any other calling.

When the police learned of the relationship that had existed between Mrs. Kraft and Koettters the theory was formed that Koettters had committed the murder either to rid himself of the woman or to obtain a considerable sum of money which she was known to have had when she left Cincinnati. Attachments of the hotel where the tragedy occurred identified a photograph of Koettters as that of the man who had been seen in the company of Mrs. Kraft and had visited her room.

THE RISE OR IRISH DRAMA AND ACTING.

A dozen years ago there was no true Irish drama. There is such a school today, representing a spirit of nationalism vital in importance. The beginning of Irish drama may be traced to two men, Douglas Hyde who fathered a movement to perpetuate Gaelic as a spoken language and William Butler Yeats who inspired a renaissance of the Celtic genius in letters. Supporting Yeats with practical energy who soon became and still is the most fecund writer in the movement.

In 1892 Yeats and Lady Gregory founded a national literary society out of which grew in 1899 the Irish Literary theater. The ideals of this organization were expressed by him in these words:

"We have to write or find plays that will make the theater a place of intellectual excitement. If we are to do this we must learn that beauty and truth are always justified in themselves and their creation is a greater service in the seeming service of a cause. Such plays will require, both in writers and audience a stronger feeling for beautiful and appropriate language than one finds in the ordinary theater."

Richness of direction, word magic is the radical inheritance of the Celt. But Yeats insistence on this point alone would not have established a vivid acting drama. Lady Gregory reinforced the purely literary purpose of Yeats with the stimulus of racy story telling and pungent character drawing. Her influence kept the feet of the Irish drama on the earth. Entering the movement soon after its foundation to blend the dreaming of Yeats with the actuality of Lady Gregory, came J. M. Synge its greatest creator.

The first performance was given May 8, 1899 in a Dublin concert hall the bill consisting of Yeats' "Countess Cathleen" and Martin's "The Heather Field." The public was favorable and the next season the Gaiety theater was secured where the following year George Moore's "The Bending of the Bough" and Miss Milligan's "The Feast of Fian-na" were given. The season of 1901 was marked by the production of the first play in Gaelic. This was Douglas Hyde's "The Twisting of the Rope" and was performed by Irish amateurs whose characterizations pleased the audience far more than the English professionals in other numbers of the bill.

In March, 1903, the Irish National theater was founded to carry on the work of the Irish Literary theater more extensively. It was first established in Molesworth hall, Dublin, and its first productions were the early plays of Lady Gregory, Synge and Yeats. The following year Miss Horniman, who later established the Repertory theater at Manchester, made it possible to take possession of the Abbey theater where the players now have their permanent home.

There the Irish drama and its interpretation developed rapidly into the individuality which it now possesses and which promises to carry it on to greater achievements.

Irish drama at first written for a special audience, has qualities which give it a universal appeal to those searching for a well-flavored and sincere art in the theater. There is nothing esthetic about it or the acting which interprets it with intimate fidelity to character.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scour.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

SCHOOL PLAN CHANGE WILL BE VOTED ON

QUESTION OF GENERAL LAW VERSUS CHARTER TO BE SETTLED AT ELECTION.

Opinion Is Divided as to Merits of The Two Ways of Handling Public Schools Affairs—New Method Would Mean Enlarged Board Elected at Large and Separate from the City Government.

The announcement that the Civic League of Jacksonville had determined to cause a special election to submit the question of changing the schools of Jacksonville to operation under the general law instead of a special charter has renewed interest in that question.

Five years ago the question was submitted to a vote of the people and decision was in favor of a special charter. The question had also been voted upon at two or three earlier dates and in each instance the people decided in favor of remaining under the special charter. The purpose of this article is not to advocate or to oppose a change but simply to present some of the arguments that are made for and against the proposition. References to the board of education do not refer specially to the present board.

Charter Granted in 1867.

The special charter for schools of Jacksonville was granted in 1867 and it was amended in 1869. It is understood that Murray McConnell drew up the charter and it is likely that Newton Bateman had something to do with outlining its general provisions.

In 1869 it was known that Illinois would adopt a constitution in 1870 and that afterward there would be no special school charters obtained. It therefore happened that there were a great many cities which hastened to procure special charters on the theory that they could incorporate school plans which would be more desirable for their particular locality than would be true under the general law.

Subsequent to 1870 a great many of these charters were abolished from the fact that the cities concerned decided to operate under the general law. In most of these instances the charters had been so hastily drawn that there were certain defects which appeared when the charter laws were placed in operation. In the case of Springfield however the charter continued operating until a few years ago when by a provision of the charter the schools automatically passed under the general law. This provision was in effect that the general law to become effective whenever Springfield passed a certain limit in population.

Cities With Charters.
In addition to Jacksonville the following cities are now operating schools under special charters: Alton, Ashmore, Bloomington, Canton, Carlisle, Charleston, Cordova, Decatur, Galena, Galesburg, Heyworth, Joliet, Kankakee, Kickapoo, Lacon, La Harpe, Lake Forest, Litchfield, Macomb, Normal, Paris, Pekin, Peoria, Polo, Princeton, Rockford, Rock Island, Rushville, Shelbyville, Sparta, Tuscola, Upper Alton, Warsaw, Waukegan, Wilmington.

It is proposed to hold an election on the question of operating under the general school law at the same time the members of the board of education are elected in the 3rd and 4th wards which will be on the 3rd Tuesday in April. In the event the majority of the people favor a change it depends upon the form of petition for election as to when the law will become effective. It is understood that the form which the ladies have used in calling for a special election here will require the board of education to take the necessary steps for calling an election to select a board under the general law as speedily as possible if the measure carries at the election in April.

Board Membership.
The working of the general law providing for the number of members of the board of education in a city of this size is somewhat obscure and the casual reader is unable to tell whether in a city of this size there would be six members and a president, or nine members and a president. In the report of the Illinois Educational Commission made in 1911 there is a suggestion that the present law means nine members in a city of this size. For the report mentioned states that the chief advantages enjoyed by districts operating under a special charter are two, namely, smaller board of education in most cases, and the power to select sites for school buildings and to erect such buildings without a vote of the people.

The report then goes on to say that if these two powers were incorporated in a general law there would be little use for some of the special charters. "That these advantages may be incorporated in the general law the commission recommends that section 123 of an act to establish and maintain a system of free schools be amended to read as follows: In all school districts having a population of not fewer than 1,000 and not more than 100,000 inhabitants, and not governed by special acts, there shall be elected a board of education to consist of a president and six members."

"This amendment would limit the numbers of boards of education in cities of not more than 100,000 inhabitants to seven as well as eliminate from the law an ambiguous statement in regard to the increase of such members. It would be in accord too with the best educational thought. The tendency today is toward smaller boards of administration. They are more easily brought together, they are more informal in their methods of discussion, and in general more effective."

Some Faults Cited.
The commission also recommends a change in the general law which gives boards of education the right to purchase school property without a vote of the people. The change suggested in the school law with reference to the numbers on the Board of Education has not yet been made by the legislature and lawyers and school men differ as to the exact meaning as applied to a city of this size.

One of the principal arguments urged in favor of the general law as against a special charter of the Jacksonville kind is that the members would be elected at large and not as special representatives of any ward. Another argument is that the divorcement of the board of education from the city council would be a good thing for the schools and that there would be less likelihood of politics becoming a factor in school management. The township treasurer would be the treasurer of the board. Advocates of the general law maintain that under the present system that the member of the board from each ward is likely to interest himself only in the ward he represents and not in the general welfare of the school system. In some instances a member of the board has been referred to as the king of his ward.

Another argument against the board as now constituted is that two members of the board may combine with the mayor and absolutely dominate all of the board affairs or that any three members can enter into a like combination and handle matters without regard to the wishes of the other two.

Not Enough Publicity.
One of the most frequent charges made against the board of education during recent years is that the public really has such a small amount of knowledge of school affairs. It has frequently been the case that various important matters relative to the schools have been settled upon by a majority of the board in private conference so that when the public action was taken there was no discussion whatever. In other words the charge has been made that the board has been too much of a law unto itself and that the people had little opportunity of knowing just what the board was doing in school management, although large responsibilities and large sums of money were vested in the authority of the board.

While there have been no charges at any time of financial irregularity would be the treasure of the board it has often been referred to that the board of education makes no public accounting for the funds entrusted to its care other than might appear were one to check up the records and books of the board.

Believers in the general law maintain that with a separation of the board from city affairs and an increased membership that there would be less likelihood of combining for the control of the board; that there would be more public discussion and knowledge of school affairs, and that more publicity would be given to school finances.

One argument made against the change from the special charter to the general law is that if such a change were made that Jacksonville would be completed to refund $14,000 or $15,000 to the township fund, that representing the proportionate sum which Jacksonville received from the township fund when the city began to operate under the special charter. Opinions however vary as to the necessity from a legal standpoint of this being done.

Council Acts as Check.
It is argued too that there is an advantage in having a city council pass upon the school board levies and that in the past this fact has sometimes resulted in considerable saving to the city. In several instances the council has cut down the levy asked for $10,000 or $15,000 and the schools have been able to get along seemingly fairly well without this fund. It is maintained too that there is just as much likelihood of a board under a general law playing politics as a board under a special charter. This means that school management, good or bad is not so much a question of laws as it is of men. Another argument against the general law is that there is some advantage in having partisan members of the board; that is in representing certain political parties, the belief of some people being that more uniform, consistent in action is thus possible than is true when all members are independent of party.

The Journal will be glad to print communications on the question, either for or against the change.

Great Stock Reducing Money-Raising Sale!

FROST & NOLLEY

Jacksonville, Ill.

Only One More Week!

Sale Positively Ends Saturday, March 21.

FROST & NOLLEY

South Side Square.

Without Preface or Apology

But with the bare facts staring us in the face that we have on hand three times as many shoes as we can possibly dispose of in a regular way, and it is imperative that we should resort to the most desperate measures in order to unload at least one-half of this immense stock in this short space of time. Come in and and take advantage of the bargain prices.

The Greatest Mark-Down Sale

Continues until Saturday night, March 21. We have the greatest selling event in the history of Jacksonville, due to the fact that when we advertise a sacrifice in prices everybody knows how well we have always kept it, and clearly proven by the throngs of careful buyers who have taken advantage of it. We urge your prompt attention.

The Sale prices on Everything in our Store will Continue for One Week's Wind-up, and Many of Them ARE SLASHED TO THE CORE.

Note This Clearly---This is Not a Sale!

for the purpose of unloading fall and winter shoes. We have none to unload. All our shoes are spring and summer shoes in all styles and varieties: Patent leather, vici kid, satin and gun metal; dress shoes, Oxfords and pumps, at prices that will astonish the most careful buyer. The greater portion of them are new and late shipments. Now is the time to buy your spring and summer supply. So don't fail to come in and take advantage of the SLASHED PRICES.

MORTUARY

Tichnor.

Miss Mary Frances Tichnor died at 5:40 yesterday morning at the Central Hospital for the Insane after a lingering illness, though death was more due to decay of the vital powers than anything else.

Miss Tichnor was born in Ohio in Sept. 1831. Her father died when she was yet quite young and with her mother she came to this city which had been her home for more than half a century. She had an illustrious ancestry, both her grandfathers having served in the revolutionary army with credit. She was a lady of many excellent traits of character and faithful in all her life. She was at one time the owner of considerable property but being of a confiding disposition was cheated out of it by scheming villains.

Constant worry over her misfortunes unbalanced her mind and she was consigned to the hospital, where she was kindly cared for till the end came.

As far as known she had no relatives in this vicinity and no intimate friends, though she was esteemed by many for her excellent traits of character. She had a lot in Diamond Grove cemetery where her mother was buried and she was laid to rest beside the one who preceded her years ago. Rev. J. W. Miller kindly officiated the burial which took place at four p. m. yesterday.

Burns.

Mrs. G. W. Burns, a well known resident of White Hall died there recently. The deceased was the wife of Dr. Burns and was seventy two years of age. She was a member of the Methodist church and a woman who was held in high esteem. The funeral was held Saturday the service being conducted by Rev. H. T. Wilson.

Winn.

Miss Marguerite Winn of the Dunlap hotel received word Saturday of the death of her sister, Miss Mary Winn of Roodhouse and left for her sister's home on the 8:45 Chicago & Alton. Miss Winn was victim of quick consumption, but met death unexpectedly by reason of a hemorrhage. She was thirty-five years of age and was a member of the Catholic church. She was a cousin of Mrs. Roy Eyles of Davenport street and is survived by a sister, Miss Marguerite Winn of this city, her mother, Mrs. Margaret Winn and two brothers, John and Michael Winn, all of Roodhouse.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon from the Catholic church in Roodhouse.

March 18th.

H. J. & L. M. Smith.

Mrs. Walter Kennedy has returned to her home in Albion, Mich., after a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Chambers, 829 West State street.

FUNERALS

Carter.

Impressive funeral services were held for Mrs. Julia Carter at the home of her son, George Moore, 645 East State street, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There was a large gathering of friends and the services were in charge of Rev. G. W. Flagg of Centenary M. E. church, assisted by Dr. J. R. Harker. The passing away of Mrs. Carter removes a woman whose years were devoted to doing good. She lived close to her Lord and her every day life was an inspiration to all who knew her. The ministers spoke most inspiringly of her useful life and of her devotion to the cause of righteousness.

There were many beautiful flowers and these were in charge of Mrs. William Wilkinson, Mrs. C. H. Cowdin, Mrs. E. L. Kennedy and Miss Grace Nicholson. Music was given by Mrs. T. H. Rapp, Mrs. Albert Farrow, Albert Metcalf and A. M. Robinson.

The remains were laid to rest in the Jacksonville cemetery and the bearers were Messrs. M. L. Hildreth, Albert Mitchell, Ellsworth Wells, C. H. Cowdin, George P. Davis and William Wilkinson.

Barber.

The funeral of Isaac R. Barber was conducted from the family residence, 699 Caldwell street, at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning in charge of Rev. H. F. Cusic. Music was furnished by Mrs. Edward Williamson, Mrs. Edgar Martin, Edward Williamson and W. H. Rowe. The flowers were cared for by Mrs. J. J. Viera. Interment was made in the Arcadia cemetery and the bearers were J. G. Fox, W. H. Jordan, George Paul, B. F. Mathis, J. J. Viera and L. G. Heen.

Vaudeville and pictures, 5 and 10 cents at the Grand beginning Monday night.

MILLIKIN WITHDRAWS FROM WHIPPLE ACADEMY DEBATE.
Principal W. L. Harris of Whipple academy has received word of the cancellation of the Whipple-Millikin debate and oratorical contest by the latter school with no word as to the cause of the action by Millikin. Later in the season an oratorical contest will be held among the boys in the academy and a contest in declamation will take place in the near future among the girls. Although these will not be a substitute for the inter-scholastic event with Millikin academy they will partly take place and will be warmly contested. Officials of Millikin academy assigned no reason for their action and the Whipple men are of the opinion that the whole affair was a case of "cold feet." Millikin having been defeated hopelessly by Whipple in the contest of last year.

She was accompanied to Murrayville by Miss Isabel Baldwin, teacher of domestic science at the high school, with her assistant Miss Anna Weber, who gave the club an excellent demonstration in the making of salads and icings for cakes. TWO YOUTHFUL CHICKEN THIEVES ELUDE POLICE

TAKE FIFTEEN BIRDS FROM STREUTER HOME SATURDAY.

Hold Man Who Attempts to Capture Them, Off With Pistol—Are Arrested at New Berlin and Later Escape From Prison.

Jacksonville was visited with a case of thievery that appears to have been the result of a "Diamond Dick" novel. Saturday about noon when two youths stole fifteen chickens from Henry Streuter's residence, held off J. W. Theobald with a gun when he attempted to capture them, won out in an exciting chase by police and boarded an east bound freight. They were arrested and placed in prison in New Berlin and while the marshal was at supper, escaped from their cells.

Luther Decker and "Red" Hare, each about 15 years of age, are the youths who did the stealing. They placed the chickens, two of which were dead, in a sack and started away from the Streuter residence, at the corner of Oak and North Main streets, where they were seen by Mr. Theobald, who attempted to stop them. Hare drew a revolver and stood the man off and they went west from the Streuter home. Mr. Theobald later found the sack of chickens, which the boys had dropped in their flight.

The police were notified of the stealing and a short time afterward Officers Eads and McGinnis caught sight of the fugitives and gave chase, but the boys had too much of a start and they escaped and boarded an east bound Wabash freight, getting inside of an open box car. Chief Davis notified a number of towns that the boys were wanted and got word to the train crew when they reached Alexander. The men locked the car in which the boys were riding and when they arrived at New Berlin, the youths were arrested and placed in prison by the marshal, who found the gun when he searched them.

Chief Davis was notified that the boys were in prison and sent Sergeant Kiloran and Officer McGinnis to New Berlin at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening, who expected to return to the city with the prisoners this morning. When they arrived in New Berlin they found that while the marshal was at supper someone had released the boys from the jail and that they were again at large. A search for them was immediately instituted but they had not been re-captured late last night. Both of the boys have been out of the St. Charles school for some time and it is understood that they escaped from that institution.
